New Rothschild Third Party Intrigue

By Michael Collins Piper

The ongoing high-level drive by Wall Street financiers to set in place a so-called "centrist" third party in time for the 2012 presidential election has received yet another boost. Two influential establishment figures added their voices to the continuing chorus calling for public support for the well-funded project known as Americans Elect (AE), which is already pushing to achieve ballot status in all 50 states.

Writing in an opinion page commentary on Nov. 4 in The Washington Post, former New Jersey Gov. Christine Todd Whitman (R) and retired Navy Adm. Dennis Blair, who served as director of national intelligence in the Obama administration, trumpeted "a better way to elect our leaders," and urged readers to rally behind AE's electioneering efforts.

Mrs. Whitman and Blair are veteran members of the powerful globalist power group known as the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) — Mrs. Whitman actually serves on the CFR's board of directors — 13 of whose members (all key figures in the policy-making elite) are on the AE board of advisors.

Most notable among the CFR figures active in AE include billionaire Wall Street operator Peter Ackerman (whose son fronts as AE's director) and two longtime Democratic Party stalwarts, Lady Lynn Forrester de Rothschild of the banking dynasty, and political consultant Doug Schoen, both of whom have been demanding the removal of Barack Obama from the White House in 2012.

For her own part, in an interview with the influential Washington-based Politico newspaper, Whitman urged former Utah Governor Jon Huntsman — now trailing badly, according to polls, in his bid for the 2012 Republican presidential nomination — to opt out of the GOP and seek AE's nomination. Huntsman — heir to a multi-billion dollar petrochemical fortune — just happens to be the candidate for whom Lady de Rothschild held a lavish fundraiser in her Manhattan townhouse earlier this year.

Mrs. Whitman and Blair have also been been invitees to the secretive meetings of the internationalist-oriented Bilderberg group, and, for his part, Blair has been a longtime member of the Trilateral Commission, long the fiefdom of aging New York-based international banker David Rockefeller whose late brother, former Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, was a longtime intimate friend and political sponsor of Mrs. Whitman.

In their Post commentary,Mrs. Whitman and Blair say that AE "provides a chance for the majority of Americans, who don't wholly identify with either major party, to lead, follow or get out of the way."

In other words, AE has been effectively designated by the Wall Street and international money interests as the official "alternative" to the Democratic and Republican Parties.
